DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

The house on this farm is a two story, eight bay brick structure completely sheathed with aluminum siding. Most other exterior features of the house, however, remain intact. Windows at both the first and second story levels have nine over six pane sashes. The five western bays of the front or south elevation are recessed forming a two story porch. There are four entrances in the front elevation, one at the second story level of the porch and others at the main story level. All have eight panel doors hung beneath transoms with curved muntin bars.

To the side of the house is a stone smoke house with a vaulted root cellar beneath its main level. Behind the house is a stone end bank barn with a round opening in the gable and vertical slits for ventilation. Numerous frame agricultural buildings are also present.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This complex, in excellent condition, is representative of rural construction during the second quarter of the 19th century. The exterior of the house appears to have been altered only by the application of aluminum siding. Other architectural elements remain intact.
